

E-4

2

VOLUME ONE

Table of Contents

Copy of report
panel reviewed
is in 4-3
7a

Preface

Executive Summary

Table of Contents

Chapter One: Introduction

- I. Changing Functions Reflect Breadth of Missions
- II. History of Different Treatment of Intelligence Agencies
 - A. Personnel Systems Reflect Special Circumstances
- III. Value of Flexible Human Resource Management Approach

Chapter Two: Changing Workforce Will Alter World of Work

- I. Who Will Work in the Coming Decade
 - A. Basic Demographic Projections
 - B. Expected Impact of Change on the Federal Workforce
- II. Availability of New Workers to the Intelligence Agencies
 - A. Education Preparation
 - B. Higher Education Trends and Job Requirements
 - C. Growth in Occupations Requiring Advanced Degrees
- III. Changing Values Associated with Work
- IV. The Workplace Responds
 - A. Private Sector Response
 - B. Federal Response
 - C. Responses Within the Intelligence Community
- V. Conclusions: Changing Workforce
- VI. References

Chapter Three: Coordinating Human Resource Policy

- I. Congressional Concern on Lack of Coordination
- II. Framework for Coordination
- III. Possible Options for Coordination
 - Option 1: Agency Comparative Analysis of Legislative Proposals for HRM Change
 - Option 2: Senior Management Coordination
 - Option 3: DCI Expanded Leadership
- III. Panel Preference for SCG

Chapter Four: Compensation Systems for the Next Century

- I. IC Agencies' Advantages over a Stagnating General Schedule
 - A. Intelligence Agency Independence from General Schedule
- II. Different Pay for Similar Work
 - A. Variations in Starting Salaries
 - B. Promotion Intervals Continue Disparities
 - C. Special Pay Rates Help Close Market Gap
 - Conclusions and Recommendations: Different Pay for Similar Work
- III. Domestic Special Pay and Allowances Vary
 - A. Basic Pay Affects Allowance Rates
 - B. Different Amounts for Foreign Language Incentives
 - D. High Cost Domestic Allowances Vary
 - Conclusions and Recommendations: Domestic Special Pay and Allowances
- IV. Overseas Pay and Allowances Vary Greatly
 - A. Overseas Allowances
 - B. Key Differences in Overseas Pay
 - Conclusions and Recommendations: Overseas Pay and Allowances

V. Enhanced Pay Flexibility

- A. Federal Experimentation and Proposals
- B. Private Sector and Other Public Sector Experience
- C. NSA Proposals for Flexible Pay and Bonus Authority

Conclusions and Recommendations: Enhanced Pay Flexibility

VI. Benefits Proposals Reflect Workforce Changes

- A. Comparing Federal and Private Sector Benefits
- B. CIA Proposal for Flexible Benefits

Conclusions and Recommendations: Benefits Proposals

Overall Conclusions and Recommendations: Compensation Systems for the Next Century

Chapter Five: Hiring and Keeping the Best Staff

I. Impact of Changing Authorization Levels

II. Recruiting the Best and the Brightest

- A. Varying Success for Critical Skill Recruiting

Conclusions and Recommendations: Varying Success in Critical Skill Recruiting

- B. Continuing Difficulty Predicted

Conclusions and Recommendations: Continuing Difficulty Predicted

- C. Military Intelligence Components: Greater Hiring Difficulty

Conclusions and Recommendations: Military Intelligence Hiring

- D. Predicted Changes to Agency Skill Needs

- E. Recruitment Coordination Lacking

Conclusions and Recommendations: Recruitment Coordination

III. Impact of Personnel Security Requirements on Recruiting

Conclusions and Recommendations: Personnel Security

IV. Retaining Talented Staff

Conclusions and Recommendations: Retaining Talented Staff

Overall Conclusions and Recommendations: Hiring and Keeping
The Best Staff

Chapter Six: Creating a More Diverse Workforce

I. Marked Variations in Workforce Profiles

II. Recruitment Efforts

Conclusions and Recommendations: Recruitment

III. Working Within the Heterogenous Workforce

A. Promoting and Retaining Staff

B. Preparing the Workplace to Deal with Differences

Conclusions and Recommendations: Working Within the Heterogeneous Workplace

IV. What the Future Holds

Overall Conclusions and Recommendations: Creating a More Diverse Workforce

Chapter Seven: Investing in the Intelligence Community Workforce

I. Training for Mission Accomplishment

A. Different Levels of Effort

B. Intelligence Community Cooperation on Training

B. Agency Assessments of Training Programs

D. Agencies Looking Ahead

Conclusions and Recommendations: Training for Mission Accomplishment

II. Career Development of Intelligence Community Staff

A. Amount Varies Among Agencies

B. Relating Career Development and Agency Planning

C. How the Agencies are Looking Ahead

Conclusions and Recommendations: Career Development

III. Ensure the Investment is With the Right People

- A. Staff Reductions
- B. Removal Authorities
- C. Outplacement Programs

Conclusions and Recommendations: Ensure the Investment is
With the Right People

IV. Workforce Investment: The Key to the Future

Chapter Eight: Managing the Intelligence Workforces in the 1990s

- A Key is Leadership
- B. Relating Mission to Workforce Planning and Evaluation

VOLUME TWO

Appendixes

- A. Scope and Methodology
- B. Agency Compensation Programs
- C. Selected Organizations' Flexible Benefits Programs
- D. Framework for Revising Compensation Programs
- E. Agency Removal Authorities, Staff Reduction Policies and Outplacement Programs
- F. Agency Staffing Programs
- G. Impact of Personnel Security on Recruitment
- H. Agency Efforts to Create a Diverse Workforce
- I. Agency Training and Career Development Programs